HEAR A LITTLE CHRISTMAS STORY...

At this time of year there are hundreds of thousands of folks working hard to fill stockings that otherwise would be empty on Christmas, and stomachs that would shudder at the sight of them, except a shabby few, are deserving of our thanks and gratitude as proof that in spite of what some of the extremists shout, there is good in America.

In our opinion the evidence that patriotism is alive and well in those United States is also reason for thanks and appreciation. Just this week a story surfaced in the Hurst-Eules-Bedford area that not only makes our society pass the litmus tests for patriotism, but also is evidence of just how much real heart there is in us.

Some ladies of that neighborhood got word that our military men on Grenada and in Beirut were missing a favorite snack like chocolate chip cookies. Especially the good old homemade kind like Mamma used to bake. These ladies named Nlon Martello, Jan Bowman, Shirley Rhee and Jo Rae Davis got their heads together and the cookie airlift was born.

Various establishments like Nestle, Solway, Alton, Elmer, Eckard, The General, Popple, Place, Container Corp. Dymekers, American Airlines, high school students, schools and all furnished the ingredients and the labor and those GI's in Grenada and Beirut will soon get some genuine homemade chocolate chip cookies to go with those Creations and other military grub. Soon there will be 22,000 of these tidbits flying to the boys on the front lines. Why 22,000 pounds of pop corn?

Don't be silly! That popcorn is to keep those cookies from getting over there all huddled up!

This little Christmas story just goes to show you that America, and especially America's women, do not fit the Jace Ponds, A-hung, Stetson mold. Not lists wowed, no prancing and parading, and thanks for a miserable job being taken care of for their country.

Ever thine,
The Editor.

Market Supplies Halved at Markets as Feeders Tend Cattle, Deep Snow in Drifts Several Feet High Reported

Back to back severe winter storms that piled one to two feet of snow over most of the Western States and into the Cornbelt created drifts up to several feet deep paralyzed the livestock movement and trading in most of those areas over the week-end and early this week. The livestock markets, already in an upswing following the improved red meat trade following the holiday, got whiplashed by packers scrambling for livestock to enable them to keep operating.

All owners of livestock took a firm stand for higher prices and most were busy caring for livestock both in feedlots and on the range. Fat cattle were dollars higher, hitting top figures of $64 and $65 on Monday and slaughter cows and bulls got into the higher market as packers sought numbers to keep going. Hogs moved higher Monday, but were losing some of the advance in the trade early Tuesday as last week heavy kill kept pork supplies from being as critically short as was the case with cattle and lambs.

No reports of livestock losses were available at this time, but some losses of young cattle on wheat are expected and some shrinkage of cattle on feed is also certain.

Fed Cattle Sharply Higher, Storm Cuts Supplies, Hogs Gain

Market supplies of fed steers and heifers were sharply curtailed, especially in the Western areas due to the winter storm gripping that area. Fed cattle advanced from $1 to $3 in the forced trading. The trade was also boosted by the better carcass beef trade of the past few sessions and packers were apparently pressing hard for numbers to keep going time up. Slaughter cows and bulls were also mostly firm to sharply higher, some markets reported slaughter cows $1 to $2 higher. Some markets reported from eight to 15 inches of snow on the ground. Moody's estimated cattle kill dropped to 68,000, compared to 140,000 last week and 124,000 a year ago.

Butcher hogs ranged from 60c to $1.50 higher at the various markets and Monday's estimated hog kill at 270,000 compared with 381,000 last week and 297,000 a year earlier. Price trends, quotations on choice and prime steers and heifers-the mixed good and choice grades and on mixed good and choice Holstein steers and U.S. 1-3 hogs scaling from 200 to 280 to 280 pounds included:

OMAHA fed steers and heifers $2 to $3 higher. Steers $82 to $84 and $80 to $82. Heifers $89.50 to $92.25 and $88 to $80. Hogs 60c to $1 higher at $41 to $42.50. No reports from Sioux City were received Monday. SIOUX FALLS fed cattle $1 to $1.50 higher. Steers $81.50 to $83.75 and $80.50 to $81.50. Choice heifers $69 to $61. Hogs $1.50 higher at $41 to $42.50.

ST. PAUL fed steers and heifers 50c to $1 higher and Holstein steers 50c up. Steers $69 to $60 and $68 to $68. Heifers $68.50 to $66.50. Hogs $67 to $68.50 and $65.50 to $67. Hogs steady to $1 higher at $40 to $41. JOLIET steers $1 to $1.50 higher and heifers $1 up. Steers $61.50 to $68 and $60 to $61.50.

Heifers $59.50 to $61.50 and $57 to $59. Hogs 50-75c higher at $38.50 to $41.25. PEORIA steers $1 to $2 higher and heifers $1 up. Steers $80 to $88 and $68 to $60. Heifers $85.50 to $81 and $57 to $55.50. Hogs $1 higher at $38 to $42. ST. LOUIS compared to last Monday steers $1.50 to $2 higher and heifers $2 higher. Steers $80 to $82.25 and $59 to $60.50. Mostly good grade Holsteins $51 to $55.50. Heifers $68 to $60 and $58 to $58. Hogs $1 higher at $39 to $41.50.

Monday Feedlot Trade Generates Higher Prices

Amerillo, Nov. 29 (F-S) - Trade active in the Panhandle area. Moody's Slaughter steers and heifers fully 1.00 higher. Feedlots reported good interest and inquiry from buying sources. Sales on 12,700 slaughter steers and 5,500 heifers. 30,000 head sold for the week to date. Steers: good and mostly choice 2 3 70-85% choice, 1025-1100 lb. $4.00. Mixed good and choice 2 3 1000-1100 lb. $3.00-$3.50. Heifers, pen choice 2 3 975 lb. $2.50. Good and mostly choice 2 3 875-1000 lb. $1.50 mostly 82.00. Pen mixed good and choice 2 4 1000 lb. including heiferettes $2.00. Pen good, few choice 2 4 1100 lb. heiferettes $3.00.

Omaha, Nov. 28 (USDA) - Nebraska Feedlot Sales 1,000. Week to date 5,800. Very little done at area feedlots as snow removal took precedence over marketing. Buyer demand generally good, but not uniformly so, since some area packers either closed or operating at reduced slaughter rates. Steers: low lots choice 2 4 1100-1250 lbs. $2.00-$3.00; with 'hot weight' basis sales 100.00-101.00, occasionally 101.50. Heifers: few sales 'hot weight' basis choice 2 4 600-700 lbs. $6.00-$8.00.

U.S. Beef Sales Increase To Japan

In a teleconference presentation to the U.S. Meat Export Federation's (MEF) Annual Board of Directors meeting in Denver yesterday, MEF Asian Director Phil Seng reported that the U.S. continues to increase its percentage share of Japan's imported beef market. During the first 9 months of 1983, Seng said, the U.S. shipped 43,803 metric tons (MT) or $193.4 million of beef and veal to Japan, compared to 36,506 MT or $159.7 million during the same period in 1982. He attributed this increase to consumer demand and the Government of Japan's commitment to meet its Multilateral Trade Negotiations obligations.

Seng also reported that the U.S. had increased its percentage share of Japan's variety meats market 8% this year, selling 30,820 MT or $66.3 million of variety meats to that market during the first nine months of 1983.

While the U.S. is expected to increase its sales of pork to Japan by 3% this year, Seng feels the prediction is optimistic due to dropping Japanese hog prices and competition from other suppliers. Outside of Japan, Seng predicted that South Korea could be the next major growth market to Asia. He cited factors such as a rising Gross National Product, a population exceeding 40 million and an anticipated

With New Officers U.S. Animal Health Assn. Looks Ahead

Richmond, Va. — The U.S. Animal Health Association concluded its 188th meeting in Las Vegas with recommendations aimed for the second century of cooperative state-federal efforts to prevent, control and stamp out animal diseases, according to J. O. Pearce, Jr., Pearce, an Okaloosa, Fla., cattle rancher, is the organization's new president, succeeding John R. Ragan of Nashville, Tenn. President-elect in David U. Walker of Montpellier, Vt.

Others elected to office at the USAHA's 87th annual meeting were: N.W. Kruse of Lincoln, Neb., 1st vice president; J.F. Hudson of Denver, Colo., 2nd vice president; J.A. Cobb of Atlanta, Ga., 3rd vice president; and J.C. Shock of Annapolis, Md., treasurer.

"USAHA supports plans to celebrate 100 years of animal health next year," said Pearce. "Congress created the old Bureau of Animal Industry in 1884 within the Department of Agriculture, to protect export markets of the nation's fledgling livestock industry through research, education and disease eradication measures."

"The BAI, as it was called, began working closely with the states and livestock producers groups to meet animal health problems head on. Such work is now carried on by successor agencies within the department."

"USAHA is recognized as the official voice of livestock producers and others in recommending changes to state and federal animal health regulations," he said. Among its 1983 recommendations, USAHA:

- 1 — Called for brucellosis vaccination of all female dairy calves moving into or out of all states except those recognized as brucellosis-free. The same recommendation would apply to female calves of beef breeds moving into or out of high-incidence states or areas (those with "C" classification).
 - 2 — Praised the fulfillment of its earlier recommendation that USDA establish a national leptospirosis center.
 - 3 — Identified research needs in two areas: 1) A better diagnostic test for contagious equine morbilli, a relatively new venereal disease of horses. 2) A new vaccine for born diseases. The pests are becoming resistant to those in current use.
 - 4 — Reaffirmed support for uniform regulations throughout the United States to ensure safety and efficacy of all veterinary biological products. The association favors vesting necessary authority in USDA and strongly supports the concept of an animal biological law.
 - 5 — Voted support for pilot projects underway in Ohio and Tennessee that are expected lead to development of a national animal disease surveillance system.
 - 6 — Expressed concern about serious outbreaks of avian influenza in Pennsylvania, noting the risk of spread and threat of wider losses to poultry producers.
- "USAHA's 1984 meeting will be held Oct. 22-24 in Fort Worth, Texas," said Pearce. "Meanwhile, we'll be following up on the 1983 recommendations of our organization."

PRORICH FEEDS

A Testimonial...

"This past winter I used Prorich supplemental feed on my cow herd. I was very pleased with the results. As the cattle came through the winter in better condition than ever before. The cattle slicked off immediately and cycled earlier. Having used different feeds in the past I can appreciate the value of the Prorich formula."

Geographers Say High Study Ignored Public Perceptions

Geographers, Kan. - Texas property owners control the use of their own land. But in Kansas water is scarce, property, managed by state agencies.

The controversial, federally-funded Plains Ogallala Aquifer Study, which late last year, ignores these local groundwater institutional differences and the public perceptions of water depletion problem, said two Kansas State University geographers.

Issues would be pertinent to groundwater management. Geographers David Kromm and Stephen E. Kromm have launched a two-year, $100,000 project to collect this information which they believe will be a useful supplement to the High Plains Study.

By next spring they will be ready to survey some 8,000 residents in the six-state High Plains area and make their preliminary findings available in the summer of 1984. Congress authorized in 1975 that the Department of Commerce, the Army Corps of Engineers, and the six states - Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, and Nebraska - study problems associated with declining Ogallala Aquifer groundwater levels in agricultural irrigation in those states. Since release of the report last November, it has become the subject of much discussion among people, groundwater managers, and legislators in the affected area, the geographers said.

"There's nothing wrong or weak about a High Plains Study. It does what it is intended to do," said White, who is head of the KSU Department of Geography.

"However it's hard to come to grips with the issues. The study's recommendations consider the region as a whole and not individual states and their legal differences. Nor does it address how people want to have their groundwater managed and by whom."

The K-State scientists are documenting the variety of existing laws and the groundwater management groups that exist in the six states. When they have completed this fact finding, the study will be used to list various alternative management strategies and institutional arrangements.

The survey questionnaire will present these alternatives to people living in selected counties in each of the six states. The counties, which have not been identified, are to be representative of all the 186 counties in the Ogallala area.

The geographers want to question a wide spectrum of people who depend on water in the Ogallala. Included will be city dwellers, dry land and irrigation farmers, well drillers, and farm implement dealers.

Using statistical analyses, the geographers then will determine the public preferences for groundwater management strategies and control institutions. They also will point out regional differences of opinion.

To illustrate some of these regional differences, Kromm went back to the Texas situation. Preliminary findings, he said, shows the two states are opposite in groundwater management thinking.

In states have created local groundwater management districts. In Texas the district officials serve as a liaison between irrigators and the state to promote efficient use of groundwater. The Texas district officials' lobby for any state groundwater regulation that promotes the property owners' Kromm said.

He explains that legal and management arrangements in the other four states are not as clear as the Texas situation. "In Mexico and Nebraska have control systems. Theoretically groundwater control rests at the local level, but in fact it's more state control. The Texas situation is a can of worms. It has so many legal variables to the study, from the state level," Kromm said.

Research the two men are doing is part of a similar study they completed in 1981 on Kansas public groundwater.

Geographers Say High Plains Study Ignored Public Perceptions

(CONT. FROM PAGE 21) perceptions of groundwater problems. For that project they surveyed 1,500 Kansans living in Groundwater Management District No. 3, which covers 18 southwestern Kansas counties. Their current study has been funded by the General Services Foundation, a private research foundation in St. Paul, Minn., for the period July 1, 1983, to July 1, 1985. "We hope our study will be a useful reference tool to show the existing groundwater management institutions how they operate and vary within the six High Plains states. Regulators and policy makers will want to know the attitudes and preferences of their constituents," White said.

AQHA Names Assistant Racing Director

David Watterson of Manhattan, Kansas has been named Assistant Director of Racing for the American Quarter Horse Association. AQHA Executive Secretary and General Manager Ronald Blackwell has announced. Watterson assumed duties as Assistant Director of Racing October 24. Prior to his acceptance of the AQHA position, Watterson lived in Manhattan while attending graduate school at Kansas State University. He has completed 28 hours of work toward a masters degree in equine exercise physiology and had been working for a KSU research program on the subject.

Leasing Vs. Buying Farm Equipment

College Station — When a farmer needs new equipment, he has two options: Dr. Aubrey Lovell of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University System, has analyzed these options for some alternative ways obtained from several farm equipment dealers.

Total net cash flow after taxes indicated a negligible difference between leasing or buying, Lovell said. However, after annual net cash flow were converted or discounted to present dollar values, buying was estimated to be $383 less expensive than leasing for one set of data, which was analyzed.

"However, one should not mistakenly conclude that buying is always less expensive than leasing," Lovell cautioned. "Different assumptions about discount rates and income tax factors can significantly affect costs of the options."

Results of an analysis several years ago by Dr. John Hopkins, professor of agricultural economics at Texas A&M University, indicated that the cash purchase choice was best of a low opportunity cost of capital, says Lovell. Hopkins also found that credit purchases were optimum over medium discount rates and leasing was the most profitable method of high opportunity rates of return.

Lovell's study reveals that cost differences between various leasing representing various brands of equipment ranged as widely as differences between buying and leasing.

"In the 1980s, many producers may decide that leasing rather than traditional owning of equipment is the best alternative," says Lovell. "They need to identify advantages and shortcomings of financial leases. Just as in leasing equipment purchases, read and sign the lease contract. Seek competent farm management, legal and tax advice before trying something new," he advises.

The Big Splash

December 17, you will have the opportunity to purchase premier genetics from many of the breed's most noted females. Each of the calves are the result of embryo transplant and are some of the most promising that Limousin has to offer. The "BIG SPLASH" will offer 70 lots from such females as the $100,000 Deux Amis Honey, TEXAS Star GIGI, Theresa 44K (a full sister to Debutante), Debutante, Debutante, a full sister to Debutante, 109 Favorite, and many more tremendous brood cows. Three brood cows are mated to Harvest Olympus, Pigalle, Gendarme, Seven Fork, Seven Fords, and Unani. Bishop and Scott have assembled calves that visually represent the Limousin breed, are phenotypically correct in every way, and are indicative of a planned mating program, combining the most influential and powerful genetics available today.

We cordially invite you to set aside the weekend of December 17, 1983, and join us in Abilene, Tx. for "THE BIG SPLASH" and "THE BIG BASH!" (Bishop Style!)

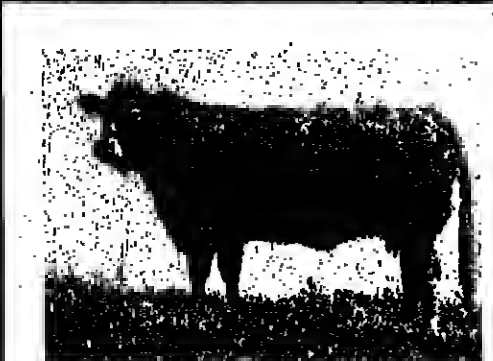

Oh Honey Oh (SSBI) — Honey has outdone herself with this tremendous daughter of Pigalle. An April 4, 1983, heifer that just may be the finest calf in the offering. Amabilis By Morning (SSBI) — The only calf from this mating. Amabilis By Morning is sired by the great Top Oz and out of a super fullblood daughter.

NORDIC DEBUTANTE

Lots Selling Include:
30-Fullblood Herd Bull Prospects
42-Fullblood Heifers
Tremendous Brood Cow Prospects

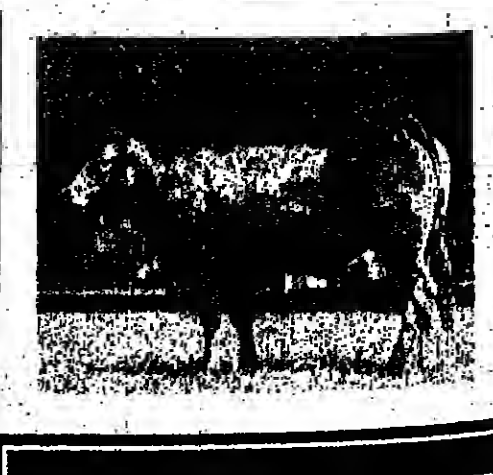

Nordic Debutante has been one of the most consistent and prolific producers in the Limousin breed. Debutante is the dam of the Champion Fullblood Pen of Fall of the 1979 National Western and the dam of the high selling bull in the 1979 Houston Stock Show. Debutante daughters can be found in many of the country's top programs where predictable performance is demanded.

Deux Amis Honey has rewritten the record books for production and predictability. Champion and High Selling bull at Denver and Houston were both Honey sons. High selling heifer at Houston was a Honey daughter. We have just begun to see her influence in the breed today. Honey recently sold for a world record $109,000 for 12 interest to Horizon Limousin in Bishop's June Sale. The calves in this offering are a chance to purchase some of the most outstanding genetics in the breed today.

NCA Appeals Block's EPA Ban On 2,4,5-T Herbicide

Washington — A joint protest filed by several manufacturers and agricultural trade associations, including the National Cattlemen's Association, has blocked the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) from completely banning the herbicide 2,4,5-T, now widely used to control brush on rangelands.

EPA on Oct. 14 moved to permanently prohibit all uses of 2,4,5-T, after Dow Chemical Co., the major U.S. manufacturer of the herbicide, withdrew from EPA hearings conducted since 1979 on the safety of 2,4,5-T. Dow said that it continued to believe that the herbicide was harmless but that its legal costs of $10 million were far exceeding any chance of making a profit from 2,4,5-T sales.

The recently filed joint appeal charged that the notice of cancellation issued by EPA following Dow's announcement was illegal because it did not present legally required evidence that 2,4,5-T was harmful to man or the environment. Dow's withdrawal from the previous hearings is "not a sufficient or lawful basis" for cancelling 2,4,5-T, the appeal said. The groups asked EPA to rescind its new and previous cancellation notices or to hold a hearing on the risks and benefits of 2,4,5-T, before any ban on currently permissible uses is put into effect and before the emergency ban on other uses is made permanent.

EPA may not deny the request for a hearing, and while such hearing is being conducted, use of 2,4,5-T on rangelands, fields, orchards and sugarcane fields must be allowed to continue unless the agency decides to invoke emergency powers to suspend such uses while the hearing is going on, as it did in 1979 in regard to forestry, right-of-way and pasture uses. The recently filed appeal includes a request that the hearing also cover these other uses.

Wool & Mohair

Denver, Nov. 23 (URDA) — Trading on domestic wool not a standstill with no sales confirmed. Mill activity good but inventories adequate for current needs. Australian wool auction steady to weak with Australian wool corporation purchases ranging 30-40% of offerings. At sealed bid sale in Rock Springs, Texas on Wednesday one load choice fell yearling mohair sold from $5.80-5.90 grease FOB warehouse with second load pending at this writing. At the South African sale this week 740,000 pounds of mohair offered and sold to the trade with young goat and kid 2-1/2-5% higher and adult steady to weak in uneven trading.
